The transformation process in Central Florida led to the construction of an enterprise dashboard. This dashboard guides the business planning and work of 4 lines of business, a service corp, and a 7-county transportation corridors project. For this RFQ, it is important to note that the dashboard and the identity test became the framework for the consultant team's creative brief. The dashboard now guides the submission of operating plans by lines-of-business, board agendas, and orienting conversations in fundraising and staffing.
